Wednesday Ends Bank Holiday In Nevada City

The Nevada City branch Bank of America will be open Wednesday in accordance with the President's address over the radio last night, and instructions received yesterday by E. M. Rector from the Bank of America headquarters in San Francisco.

The Bank of America has received its Federal license, required under the President's proclamation, to reopen. Today all banks, receiving the Federal license, opened in San Francisco. Tomorrow all banks in cities which maintain clearing houses as in Stockton, San Jose, Sacramento, and Fresno, will open providing always that they obtain the Federal license.

On Wednesday banks in the smaller cities which have obtained their license will open. In the case of the Bank of America but one license or the 410 branch banks is necessary.

COMPENSATION COSTS STATE 22 MILLIONS, YEARLY

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 10—(UP)—Industrial accidents in California cost more than $100,000,000 a year, it is estimated by the state department of industrial relations.

"The average annual amount of compensation insurance premiums to the insurance commissioner for the years 1927 to 1931 inclusive was $22,410,839. As a great number of California's largest employers are self-insured it appears safe to assume that the total cost is not less than $30,000,000 a year," a report of the division of industrial accidents and safety said.

"It is now generally accepted that the entire cost of industrial accidents is four times that of the cost of medical treatment and compensation paid injured employes and their dependents, therefore the entire cost of industrial accidents in California is approximately $100,000,000 a year, or a per capita cost of $16."

While this high cost would indicate a huge number of accidents in industries of the state, reports of the department show the total is decreasing steadily.

The industrial accident commission received reports of 271,518 accidents for the year 1930, a decrease of 36,204 or 11.7 per cent. In 1931 there was 230,515 industrial injuries reported, a decrease of 41,003, or 15.1 per cent.

KARL KOPP BELIEVES NEVADA CITY WILL GROW

Karl Kopp, proprietor of Kopp's Bakery, who has been one of the most progressive builders of Nevada City, yesterday stated that contrary to the general assumption, the cabins he has been building during the last year or two are considerably more expensive than a casual estimate would indicate.

He states that the cabins with furniture, service connections, and plumbing cost approximately $500. He states that he is well satisfied with his investment and that he is convinced that Nevada City needs more housing accomodations. He believes the future of Nevada City will reveal an even more imperative demand for houses than now exists. He looks for a steady growth during the next few years.

"BLACKIE" HUGHES TRIAL IS SET FOR APRIL 11

When the case of The People of the State of California vs. James Hughes, alias "Blackie" Hughes, was called in the Superior Court this morning the defendant was represented by Attorney Harry M. McKee. The defendant pleaded "Not guilty" to the three charges of burglary preferred against him. Judge Tuttle set April 11, 1933 for trial of the case.

Love at first sight often causes the victims to wish they had consulted an oculist.

STANDARD MINE EXTENDS TUNNEL

Olin C. Phares, president of the Sierra Standard Mining Company of California, which operates the Standard mine three and a half miles north of Downieville states that the mine, which is operated by water power, is now starting again upon a development program with abundant water now available.

The mine is equipped with a ten-stamp mill, air compressors; three-cell Kraut flotation plant, and all necessary machinery. The tunnel is in 520 feet and the management expects to drift toward the ore body which is exposed on the surface. When this reach there will be available 210 feet at the drift level, and this rapidly increases as the tunnel is extended.

Surface indications show values of around $19 per ton. Mr. Phares expects to continue the development work, and as soon as sufficient ore is blocked out to assure a continuous run for the mill, milling operations will begin. A considerable crew of men are now at work on the property.

WAVE KESSELING TELLS OF SACTO. LEAGUE PLANS

Wave Kesseling, president of the Sacramento Baseball League, visited the Nugget office recently and outlined plans for the season which opens April 9.

He states that Nevada City is one of the white spots on California's baseball map. One of the umpires chosen for this season will be Jim Farrell of Grass Valley, who, after a long experience as player, graduated to an umpireship in the State League. He is now available for the Sacramento Valley League and Kesseling states that he is glad to appoint him.

The opening games will be played on April 9, with the Dante club of Sacramento, going to Dixon, Woodland to Willows, Grass Valley to Colusa, and Marysville, probably to Ovoville.

There are eight teams in the league and they will play a 21-game schedule.

BOY, HURT IN FALL, REPORTED RECOVERING

Little Billie Robinson, 22 months old, who fell from a second story window in the Ponticelli apartments and was taken to Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley Wednesday, is able to take nourishment and is conscious at intervals.

It is felt at this time that if complications don't set in the little fellow has a good chance for recovery.

William Gracey Visits Mothers in Los Angeles

No word has been received as yet from William Gracey and son, Allen, who motored to Long Beach Saturday to try to locate Mr. Gracey's mother. She is 84 years of age and as no word has come from her the family is worried.

SCHOOL SAVED WHEN GOLD PANNERS COME

LOTUS, Mar. 12—(UP)—The school in this little El Dorado mining community owes its existence to the gold hunters.

The district was in danger of lapsing because of lack of atendance. Recently a number of families moved here to prospect for gold along the American river.

As a result school attendance was almost doubled and local children will get an education after all.

HE FORGOT HIS BOTTLE

YLYMOUTH (UP) Late at night someone entered the fire house to get a bottle of "fire-water" he had hidden in the building. He intended to turn on the lights, but turned on the fire siren instead. He didn't stop to get the bottle.

N. C. MAN TELLS EXPERIENCE IN L. A. EARTHQUAKE

O. C. Phares, who has just returned to Nevada City from Los Angeles, was there when the temblor struck the big village. His eye-witness report follows:

"I was sitting in the home of my sister-in-law at 503 Euclid avenue, Los Angeles, at 5:57 o'clock in the afternoon when the first big shake came. The building seemed to rise up, then to shake up and down rapidly. Following that there was a circular motion, coupled with very severe shocks, something like riding an automobile over a corduroy road.

"Later I had an opportunity to see the wreckage at Huntington Park Compton and Los Angeles. Huntington Park was the worst. Practically every business house in that city was wrecked completely. In many places the streets were so covered with debris that it was difficult even to walk through them.

"Following the first succession of shocks, I was able to check three more on the following afternoon by my watch as they occurred at short intervals, 2:38, 2:43 and 2:50 o'clock. All these shocks were sharp enough to rattle the doors and windows. I am very glad to be back in Nevada City."

RAIN STORM ADDS 1.77 INCHES TO TOTAL

Mrs. Helen Berger, weather reporter of this section, yesterday stated that the rain storm brought Nevada City 1.72 inches up till 4:30 Sunday afternoon and during the night a total of .5 inches fell. This makes the grand total of the season to more than 18 inches.

Long Beach Residents Move To This City

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Glover and children of Long Beach arrived in Nevada City yesterday to remain until conditions become more settled in the quake shaken area.

Mr. Glover was in Ventura at the time of the disaster and rushed home to find his family in the center of the worst stricken area.

Mrs. Glover is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Young of this city and was born and raised here.

Two other sisters, Mrs. Jesse Loage and family are in Hollywood while Mrs. Irwin Fallon and family live in Los Angeles. So far these families have not suffered any ill effects from the earthquake.

Spring Term Starts in Camptonville Schools

CAMPTONVILLE, Mar. 12—The Camptponville Union grammar school and Camptonville branch of the Marysville Union high school will start the spring term Monday, March 13. It is still difficult for some of the outlying districts to get to town on account of snow and road conditions, but it is imperative to start the school in order to get in the required number of days between now and July 1 in accordance with the school law. Mrs. Grace Pauly is principal of the grammar school, with Miss Helen L. Jackson in charge of the primary department, and Mrs. Kate Hope Livingston in charge of the branch high school. William A. Lang, proprietor of the Lang Garage, and Louis Marquardt driving the busses.

Mining Man Soon to Return to Alaska Mine

F. M. Fenton, who has spent the past three months in Seattle, will soon be returning to Fairbanks, Alaska, where he is in charge of a large hydraulic mine. Mr. Fenton had planned to visit his sister, Miss Mamie Fenton and other relatives here but illness prevented his making the trip. He was born and raised in French Corral.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS

Laurel Parlor of the Native Daughters will meet next Wednesday evening. Following the routine business meeting the parlor will stage an entertainment permeated with the spirit of old Ireland of St. Patrick's Day.

ARBOGAST TELLS OF CONVENTION

Supervisor Cary Arbogast reports that at the State Convention of County Supervisors held in Sacramento last week, that body was very nearly unanimously in favor of the bill now pending in the state legislature to give the counties one half of the three cent gasoline tax for county road purposes.

As the law now stands counties receive one cent, or a third of the tax. The new bill would give the counties one and one half cents of the three cent tax. The bill also provides that cities shall receive an increased proportion of the tax money allotted the counties.

BILL TO CUT STATE SALARIES OPPOSED

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 13—(UP)—Opposition is steadily mounting to the Senate fact finding committee's recommendation that state employes receiving $100 or under per month should be cut five per cent.

There is considerable doubt that the measure will get past the assembly, even though, it manages to negotiate the senate, legislative leaders indicate. In the upper house, Senator J. M. Inman appears to be the focal center of opposition.

"I will not vote for 'starvation wages," he announced at a session of the governmental efficiency committee. "There's a limit to this salary cutting. Let the fellows in the upper brackets take it on the chin, but spare the little fellow who even now is barely getting enough to live on."

CALIFORNIA SCHOOL BUSES 88 PCT. SAFE

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 13—California school buses operating in fifty-four counties today were pronounced 88 per cent safe by the California highway patrol.

The patrol's report, made on a recent high inspection of the 1,684 buses used for the transportation of school children in the state, showed they had compiled with 88 per cent of the safety regulations imposed by the patrol and the state department of education about a year ago when a statewide campaign ws organized to reduce school bus accidents.

Three counties, Napa, Nevada and Shasta were reported to have compiled 100 per cent with all regulations. No county fell below a percentage of 73 and fifty scored higher than 80 per cent.

No report was made on San Francisco, Alpine and Sierra counties as no buses operate in those counties. The report on Los Angeles county was not made because the Los Angeles unit of traffic officers did not come into the patrol until last July.

OLD HOME IN NEVADA CITY IS REMODELED

Miss Andrews, whose family were the Newell family of Birchville, north of Nevada City, has purchased what was known as the old Solaro property on upper Nevada street, near the Rector home.

The house was quite run down and she has had the back portion torn away the front remodeled by contractor Roy Madsen of Grass Valley.

At present Mr. Lotz of Nevada City is pleastering the large comfortable rooms.

The most striking feature of the front room is a chimney in which rough stones were cemented into the masonary as high as the mantel. Many beautiful specimens are filled with bright ores, there are numerous pieces of petrified wood, the grindstone variety and the beautiful black and white and yellow and white petrified wood and limonite. Ed Matteson of Grass Valley built the fireplace.

Miss Andrews spent her early girlhood in the Hawaiian Islands. Much of her schooling was in California schools, later graduating from the University of California.

She taught for a time and later went into welfare work. Miss Andrews also traveled in the Orient for some time.

Throngs Of Prospectors Swarm To Mother Lode

SOLONS SPLIT ON SCHOOL PLAN

SACRAMNTO, Mar. 13—(UP)—A definite split over the proposed elimination of rural school supervisors has developed in the legislature.

Proposed as an economy measure which would free the counties of the mandatory requirement of supervising rural school districts with an average daily attendance of less than 300 pupils, the bill is being opposed by educators on the ground it would take advantage from the rural school child and give them to city children.

Under the present plan the state allocates $309,400 to supervise rural districts. If this law is repealed, it is claimed the money will go into the general school fund and he apportioned on an attendance basis with the result the most of it will go to the heavily populated urban districts.

State records show that Nevada county receives $1,400 annually for rural supervisors at the present time, but would receive $605 if the money was allocated on the regular basis of attendance.

Appearing before the senate governmental efficiency committee in opposition to the measure, educators claim that repeal of the rural supervision plan would wreck the state's country school system at no actual saving to taxpayers.

GODCHAUX WILL FACE TRIAL HERE

Sheriff George Carter is expected to return to this city tomorrow evening with Norman Godchaux in custody today. Godchaux was wanted on several counts of issuing bad checks and for other law violations. For a time he operated the Godchaux shop in Grass Valley. He is a young man of good but expensive tastes and a suave, engaging personality.

The Godchaux shop, following a creditors sale last week ,will re-open soon as the Hollywood Smart shop.

The charges against Godchaux of passing fictitious checks had many ramifications. Apparently he left a trail of them from Grass Valley to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and finally to Vancouver.

Through the persistant efforts of Sheriff Carter he was finally located at Vancouver.

IMPROVEMENTS IN NEW YORK HOTEL ARE MADE

The rear portion of the New York hotel has been remodeled by the proprietor, N. Regalia. That portion of the building which formerly served as kitchen, pantry and service room has been torn down giving more light in the dining room with an unobstructed view of Commercial street. The new kitchen will be divided from the dining room and face on the court which now forms the driveway into the garages. The Commercial street frontage has been much improved by Mr. and Mrs. Regalia since they acquired the hotel. A pretty latticed fence, painted green, has replaced the picket fence which for years enclosed the hotel grounds. Jack Derr, contractor is in charge of the hotel alterations.

CONCESSION FOR CALIF. ORANGE JUICE $1,000

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 12—(UP)—Orange juice to balance the budget.

It isn't possible that orange juice will furnish all the money needed to make up the expected deficiency in state funds but a sizable return is expected from the profits of orange juice to be sold at the Chicago world fair.

The directors of California's exhibit have let the concession for $1,000 and 20 per cent of the profits, the money to go the general fund of the state.

Subscribe For The Nugget.

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 13—(UP)—Winter or summer, rain or shine, the compelling lure of gold continues to draw thousands to the hills and mountains of California.

If interest and activity offer a criterion, there is every reason to suppose that California will duplicate during the forthcoming 12 months the $2,000,000 increase in gold bullion that occurred last year.

Such discoveries as that of James J. Elliott, Portola plumber, revive the lagging hopes of amateur prospectors. Elliott forsook his craft—principally because work was scarce—and went into the hills in quest of gold. The other day he stumbled onto a nugget which contained 66 ounces of gold worth $1,287.

An indication of widespread interest is the number of inquiries received by the State Division of Mines.

This department reports that 115,297 persons have personally visited the two state mines offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles during the last year. Ten thousand pamphlets on elementary placer mining were distributed; 1,200 copies of "commercial mineral notes" were sent out each month; 6,248 samples were tested in the laboratory and 1,200 hopeful prospectors were instructed in the rudiments of placer mining.

"The outstanding feature of this activity," a report from the division of mines pointed out, "is the continued active inquiry for information on California's gold mining possibilities and areas, from individuals great and small, experienced and inexperienced, and from corporation representatives.

"In spite of limitations of travel and winter conditions in the mountains, the inquiries continue unabated."

The great bulk of amateur prospectors come from the ranks of California's 500,000 unemployed Thousands of these men, chafing under inactivity and drawn by that one-chance-in-a-million of striking a "bonanza," have gone forth into the mountains equipped only with elementary tools, fragmentary knowledge and an enduring hope.

SALARY SLASH PROPOSED FOR STATE JUDGES

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 13—(UP)—Along with thousands of other elective and appointive officials, superior judges in 46 of California's 58 counties will probably be compelled to accept salary cuts ranging from $4,000 annually to $250.

One of the first acts of the senate committee on governmental efficiency after the reconvening of the 50th legislature was to report out favorably senate bill 142 providing for salary reductions of superior judges.

In a nutshell, the bill would reduce salaries from the existing $10,000 maximum and $4,000 minimum, to a $6,000 maximum and $3,500 minimum.

The state now contributed $4,000 to the salary of each superior judge and the county all over that sum, if any. A provision of the measure would reduce the state's share in the salary to I3,500.

There is every prospect of the bill passing both houses unless the present temper of the legislature will change. Attitude of the senate committee was typical.

"We don't like this any better than the judges," observed Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino county. "It's just like taking castor oil-hard to take but it does us all good."

Superior judges were not alone. Four other bills were unanimously passed cutting the salaries of supreme court justices, judges of the district courts of appeal and attaches of the supreme and appellate courts.

County Clerk Noble McCormack is again at his desk today after a few days illness which confined him to his home. "Mac" is receiving congratulations from his visitors to the office.

EXTRAVAGANT USE OF WATER

(BY CITY ENGINEER UREN)

Nevada City is more extravagant in the use of water than any listed city in the United States. We are using at the present time sixty inches of water.

Assuming our population to be 2000, this means that for every man, woman and child there is being used over 480 gallons of water daily, or enough to fill an ordinary bath tub eight times.

And this is, or should be, the most economical time of the year. There is no garden irrigation; the weather is not cold enough to let the faucets run at night in order to prevent freezing, and yet we are using more than eight times the water consumed by the pro rata population of either Saint Paul or Minneapolis.

If we take a list of thirty American cities we will find that the average daily consumption is 122 gallons per person. We are using four times that.

And so we are faced with the fact that through leaky taps broken pipes and the careless use of water we are using fully three times as much as is necessary for ordinary domestic purposes.

This may not seem so improvident at this season of the year when we ordinarily have an abundance of free water on the south side, but as a matter of fact we were buying thirty inches of water last week on the north side at a cost of $4.80 per day, which could just as well have been saved.

We were getting thirty five inches of free water from our south side supply last week, or more than enough for the city's needs if all waste were stopped.

CONFIDENCE RETURNING

If a certain maker of a certain popular car had consulted a representative group of car buyers a good many years ago, he would have been forced to turn out a better car, probably for the same money. The rattles that once marred the joy of riding could have been eliminated. The confidence of car buyers, who always had an uneasy feeling, after having driven a few thousand miles that they were dropping parts along the way, would not have suffered.

The car no longer has this undesirable attribute. The cars are now well screwed and bolted together, but the prejudice of thousands of users still accrues to the detriment of this particular automobile. In the mean time many cars without rattles have come into competition with the car that once rattled. An immense business has been seveley dented. All of which would not have happened had the master mind at the head of the concern deigned to consult the humble owners of some of his cars. Confidence is returning to this car. Gradually the memory of the rattles is abating. The car maker has probably learned his lesson, though it cost him untold millions in the learning.

And thus with the banks. In our modern conception of business we have overlooked the functional differences that mark one business off from another. The competition among banks for business became gradually a competition between banks and other businesses. In such minor matters as drawing up wills, the banks competed with the legal profession. They entered the business of selling stocks and bonds in competition with brokerage houses. They became executors of estates. And, in prosperous times, in their manifold functions, they made money.

But the fundamental function that banks serve is to keep safely the money that depositors leave in their care. To permit them to make a reasonable profit in performing this service, the laws of the country specially favor them. When, however, competition among banks and between banks and other corporations becomes so keen as to involve a risk of the depositors money, we have the present condition. The fear of great numbers of depositors impells them to take their money out of the banks for what they regard as safer keeping than the banks afford.

We have today a government, which, in far as it affects banks, is a dictatorship. The banks are closed though the order of the President. The President is clothed by Congress with war time powers to deal with this emergency. Hoarders are to be fined unless they return to the banks all the gold or gold certificates they have withdrawn.

It may be urged that this order is unconstitutional, that a man's money is his personal possession just as much a is his house and lot, that normally he cannot be compelled to do anything with his property he does not wish to do. However, in time of war the government can and does assume complete power over not only property but the lives of citizens, drafting young men to fight, hazarding their lives for the defense of their country. Thus, so far as constitutional rights are concerned in this emergency, no one can plead them who is ordered to return to the banks gold or gold certificates.

This drastic step can only be justified by subsequent action to make the banks safe for depositors. If, for instance, the government should, after forcing gold hoarders to deposit their hoards in the banks, fail to make those banks safe for depositors, it will have made conditions far worse than they were before.

Confidence can be restored in banks only so far as the government clips from the banks all those functions which have no direct connection with the primary service of keeping safely the money of depositors. This process of stripping from banks such adventitious activities as supplying call money for speculative purposes, handling and selling foreign and domestic bond issues, many of them of highly speculative character, has already begun. The public mind on this aspect of banking activity is well reflected in the bills sponsored by Senator Carter Glass and enacted by Congress.

In time, and perhaps sooner than most of us suspect, the banks will be purged of their non-banking activities, and it may be, made as safe for the depositor, as the banks of Canada, France and England now are. In other words the rattles that presage ultimate dissolution will have been eliminated, and the people may again go about their affairs assured of safety for their savings.

A Message From Past Years

We see the light—a new day now is dawning,
"Farewell," we say, to carping doubts and fears;
And high above earth's loud, contending voices.
We catch this message from past years.

"Thou too, sail on, O ship of state,
Sail on, O Union strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all its hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate.
We know what master laid they keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast and sail and rope,
What anvils rang what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock,
'Tis of the wave and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail
And not a rent made by the gale.
In spite of rocks and tempest roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on nor fear to breast the sea,
Our hearts, our hopes are all with thee;
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee."

—Longfellow

And so we pledge our faith anew
Though skies are dim and nights are chill,
The ship of State will ride the storm,
Our faith and love are with her still.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

CORPORATION DIVISION REPORTS NEW BUSINESS

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 13—(UP)—A definite improvement in business conditions is indicated in recent reports of the stat edivision of corporations, according to officials.

Continuing a marked increase in new business, as shown by the total fees collected by the division of corporations, an all time high was recorded for January, a report of Governor Rolph revealed.

"The total of $53,726.36 was the largest collected in any January since the organization of the corporation department in 1915," Edwin M. Daugherty, commissioner of corporations, said.

"Applications for permits by corporations to sell stock have shown a constant increase since early winter when the total for November was 568, for December, 600, and January, 618.

STATE SENATOR SEAWELL WRITES EXPLANATION

....Jerrold L. Seawell, State Senator from this district, writes the following letter in explanation of his vote against adding to the taxes of puplic utility corporations.

Sacramento,
March 12, 1933

Editor
Nevada City Nugget:

Dear Sir:I feel, due to the unfair publicity of certain newspapers, that I should explain my vote in the Senate on the Public Utilities Tax Increase bill offered by Senator Inman.

I believe the article on this subject printed in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post fully covers the subject when this writer stated, "No matter what tax you levy the common people ultimately pay the bill."

I hold no brief for the corporations, but in casting my vote I believe that I acted for the best interest of the people of my district for the following reasons.

Placer and Nevada counties having a large fruit belt area, find it necessary to purchase their water for irrigation purposes and their power from the P. G. & E. Company. A six million dollar increase in power Co. rates would be passed back upon the farmers, business and industrial people of my district, who are in no position at this time to pay the present rates, much less an additional burden. Many of them having their power and water shut off last year because of their inability to pay their bills.

NO BENEFIT TO MAJORILY

In addition to this it might be interesting to know that this increase in taxes on public utilities would in no way reduce the burden on the common property tax payer as at the present time they do not pay anything toward the cost of State Government.

In explaining the attitude of the members from the metropolitan areas in supporting this legislation, it is not hard to understand why they favor such an increase. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Alameda and Sacramento, own many of their own public utilities and do not pay ONE DIME toward State Government from these utilities.

The state appropriation for our Educational System comes out of the General Fund of this state, and as these counties do not pay anything into this General Fund, it is not hard to understand why they would have those who live in the rural sections of California and use the power of privately owned public utilities pay the tax of these corporations and at the same time the cost of educating the children of the above mentioned counties.

RATE CUT PETITIONS

At the present time there are several suits pending by the Railroad Commission of California in the Federal Courts of this country petitioning for a rate reduction in power company rates. I feel that if the power companies have been earning too large a return on their investment that they have practically stolen from their customers this additional revenue and this overcharge should be returned to those who are the users and rate payers of the Public Utilities.

The newspapers did not state that there are several other tax proposals that would return the common and operative properties of the Public Utilities to the Counties for local taxation and toward this point, I am bending every effort to have these properties retained for local taxation. The newspapers did not point out that the increases proposed in the Inman bill applied only to the Power Companies. They did not mention that the Southern Pacific Railroad would have its taxes reduced approximately a million and a quarter dollars annually, nor did they state the Telephone and Telegraph Companies would, also, benefit in reduced taxes under this bill.

They printed a one-sided issue, giving all the talks made by Senators from the metropolitan districts favoring the measure but they did not print the remarks of those who opposed this measure. I might, also, state that the subject that was before the Senate was not on the question of the bill passing the Senate, but that the vote was cast on the urgency clause which would determine whether or not this was an emergency measure. Many of the Senators believed it not to be an emergency measure but preferred to delay the Inman bill until such a time as other tax measures of a general equalization character had an opportunity of being heard. The Inman bill is still before us on the file and should the other tax measures fail we can still come back to it if necessary.

I am writing these lines to let the people of my district know my attitude and will state that at a meeting held in New Castle one week prior to the convening of the Session 32 representatives citizens, representing the 1600 members of the Placer County Taxpayers' Association, and the representatives of the State Farm Bureau were present and directed me to oppose the Inman bill and the Clowdsley bill firmly believing the increase in taxes would be passed back upon them as consumers and payers of public utilities rates.

I trust you will grant this space in your newspaper.

It Takes More Than Salts, Calomel, Mineral Waters, Oils, or Laxative Pills to Arouse a Sluggish Liver

They Give Only Temporary Relief From Constipation and Biliousness, Because They Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver or Its Production of Bile

Bile is nature's own laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, putrefaction, gas and disease germs.

When your liver becomes torpid or sluggish the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs and poisons; your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sour stomach.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills will remove the cause of this condition and purify your entire system in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually reduce the dose until you no longer require a laxative at all.

Five years ago it was generally believed that calomel and laxative drugs stimulated the liver, but modern science has proved that calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils and other laxatives have no effect whatever on the liver.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills act directly on the liver because they contain two amazing substances which highest medical authorities agree are the only effective stimulants to the bile-producng activity of the liver known to modern science. These substances stimulate and invigorate the liver to cleanse and purify itself through increasing its production of bile. This fresh bile immediately starts to work neutralizing acids and poisons, stopping fermentation and decay, cleansing and purifying the bowels and sweeping out accumulated poisons.

Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels. It makes you feel years younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and cheeks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself.

Insist on genuine Sargon Soft Mass Pills. Don't be misled. There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances and no other advertised medicine on the American market today does contain them.
